27th Sunday in Ordinary Time
October 7, 2018

As I write this column, we are busily preparing for our 2018 Fiesta, but as you read it, we have already completed what I hope was a successful and wonderful Fiesta. Today's readings made me smile; it was in the context of reflecting on all those wonderful people that have been hard at work for the past week. For the most part they are married couples with both spouses equally engaged in the creation of yet another San Miguel Fiesta. Don't get me wrong, there are an equal number of single people as well, but in the context of today's reading I chose to focus on the married ones.

I am a very fortunate woman. I am married to a man that is equally engaged, sometimes more so because he is a Deacon after all, in my church, my faith. "The LORD God said: "It is not good for the man to be alone. I will make a suitable partner for him." I hope that I have been a suitable partner for him; I can assure you that he has been a suitable partner for me.

Have you ever wondered why it was that God first formed all the wild animals and birds of the air, then brought them to "the man to see what he would call them"? The names he chose, remained and none were a suitable partner. I don't think God didn't know this – of course He did. Was He instead looking at "the man" to see what kind of response and needs he may have had? Can you imagine? God brings a lion, then an elephant, then a puppy. Would the lion have jumped into his lap like the puppy probably did? Did the man learn about pride and stoicism and immensity as well as playfulness and family? Can you see God watching him for his reactions?

Lastly God built a woman from the rib of a man. He formed us from a part of the man. I imagine that we kept some of those experiences, those memories from the man as he met and named each animal. We however, woman, are the suitable partner. It has been a blessing to watch all those married couples in their partnerships as they worked on our fiestas. It was equally a blessing to work with all of our faith community whether single or married, young or old.

May the Lord bless us all the days of our lives.
Your Sister in Christ,
Nadine
