Fourth Sunday of Advent
December 23, 2018

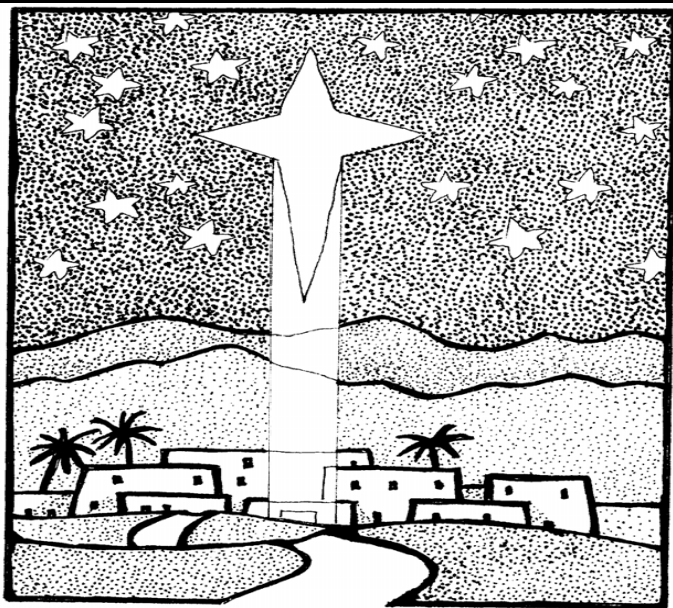

In a few days, we will be celebrating the birthday of Christ. Christ comes most readily to those who realize their need of him. When Prophet Micah was writing, Jerusalem was under siege and David's dynasty was in jeopardy. But salvation would come from a comparatively insignificant place (Bethlehem). From there a new leader would come to gather together the scattered exiles and unite the nation once more.

Christians see this promise as foreshadowing the coming of Jesus Christ, the prince of peace, who was born in Bethlehem and descended from the line of David. It was through Mary that God is seen to keep the promise announced through the Prophet Micah so long ago. The promise of God will take flesh in her and be formed in the person of Jesus.

In today's Gospel, Mary is blessed for believing "that the promises made her by the Lord would be fulfilled". In Mary we see someone who allows the promise of God to shape her whole life.

At Christmas we celebrate the great event that Jesus is the kept promise of God. He comes to us again as gift of the Father and invites us to have the confidence to make few promises ourselves. As Christians, we are a people of promises, and God holds fast to the words of promises we have made to Him.

As advent closes, we thank God for keeping His word to us, and ask Him to help us keep our word to Him and to each other.
