

Old San Miguel Mission

One of The Oldest Catholic Churches in the United States

Mission Statement

“We Strive to Bring People Closer to God.”

(Adopted August 5, 2008)

Parish Vision Statement

We, the faith filled members of San Miguel Parish and its Missions, a part of the Archdiocese of Santa Fe, find strength, unity and grace in the Celebration of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. As the voices and hands of Jesus in our time, our purpose is to express God's grace by offering Christian Love and Service to each other and to everyone we meet. We reach out to the world in prayer, action and deeds in unity with the Holy Roman Catholic Church.

Twenty-Fourth Sunday in Ordinary Time
September 17, 2017

Are we, mere humans capable of continual forgiveness? Yes we are, but boy is it a lot of work! I find it more difficult to forgive someone who has hurt someone I love than someone who has hurt me. Is there someone in your life who is difficult to forgive? What do you do when someone continually hurts you or has hurt you deeply? Through habit or mean intention, some people create an atmosphere of pain that makes living the Christian life almost impossible. As much as we try, forgiveness seems to slip away. Hatred and emotional distance easily take its place. At these times, we want to cry out, "Lord! I have really tried. And, I've had enough!"

Peter asked Jesus the same question. At what point is forgiveness absurd? Then, having approached, Peter said to Him, "Lord, how often can my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? Up to seven times? Jesus said to him, "I say to you, not up to seven times, but seven times seventy."

The number represented an uncountable number of times to Jesus' audience. Jesus' point was clear. Forgiveness is not a matter of social grace or necessity. Forgiveness is integral to the Christian lifestyle. As God always forgives the sinner, the sinner should always forgive others.

What wealth has the Lord bestowed on us? He gave us the Good News that Christ died for our sins. But, he gave us an even greater gift when he shared his divine life with us. His Spirit lives in the very root of our being. This gift is worth far more than all the gold in the world could buy. How great is his trust in us!

Yet, we squander this gift so easily when our selfish hearts shut him out. And, when we realize our fault and return to him, how easily does he forgive us and renew his life in us! God renews his trust in us with the greatest gift of all.

But does our pettiness stop us from forgiving our neighbor? If we refuse to forgive others, even their smallest transgressions, will we be any better than the unrepentant? On the last day, would we be surprised if the Lord treated us, like we treated others? The moral of the story is clear. As the Lord always forgives us from the inner depths of his heart, we, too, must forgive others.

Forgiveness lies at the heart of the Christian message. As God forgives us, we, sinners, are to forgive others. To realize God in our lives requires us to become aware of our own shortcomings and to forgive others' shortcomings.

When have we forgiven enough times? Imagine God asking us that question from his perspective! No, we cannot conceive of such a question on his part, lest our faith die. But, God is God. He is ever faithful, ever forgiving. He showed us so when his Son died on the cross.

When God calls us to himself, he calls us to continual conversion. As we forever receive pardon for our shortcomings, we should always forgive others for theirs.

The next time someone hurts us and challenges our patience; let us remember the source of forgiveness. Let us remember the source.

Make a short list of the people you find difficult to forgive. Pray for the realization God has forgiven you. Then (and only then) pray for the power to forgive them.

Yours in Christ,
Lorella
