Fifth Sunday of Lent
April 7, 2019

Previously called "Passion Sunday", this 5th Sunday of Lent marks the beginning of Passiontide, a deeper time of Lent. In the veiling of religious images, all of our attention is to be centered on the Passion and death of Jesus Christ.

In the chapter preceding today's Gospel, Jesus was teaching in the Temple area. Feeling threatened by his teaching and his actions, the chief priests and the Pharisees send guards to arrest Jesus. The guards return, however, without arresting Jesus because they have been impressed by his words. The crowds are considering the possibility that Jesus is the Messiah. The chief priests and the Pharisees change their plan. Before making an arrest, they seek to gather more evidence against Jesus by posing a question intended to trap Jesus.

Today's Gospel begins with Jesus again teaching the crowds in the vicinity of the Temple. The scribes and the Pharisees approach Jesus, bringing a woman who has been caught in the act of adultery. They put to Jesus the question of what ought to be done in this case.

The Pharisees state that according to the Law of Moses, those caught in the act of adultery were to be stoned to death. Under Roman occupation, however, the Jewish people did not have the authority to execute people. To answer the Pharisees' question, Jesus must propose an action that will be either contrary to the Law of Moses or contrary to Roman law. Either answer, yes or no, will support the Pharisees' case against Jesus.

Jesus avoids the trap, however, by offering an answer that was not anticipated by those who posed the question. Jesus, after writing on the ground with his finger, addresses those who stand before him and states that the one among you without sin cast the first stone. Jesus then returns to his writing. This Scripture reading is the only evidence we have of Jesus writing. Yet there are no specific details about what he wrote.

We can imagine the scene as the Pharisees and the elders disperse, one by one. Jesus has eluded the trap they had prepared. Left alone with the woman, Jesus asks where the accusers have gone. With no one remaining to condemn the woman, Jesus (the one who truly is without sin) sends the woman on her way, refusing to pass judgment on her and exhorting her to avoid future sin. Jesus' response to those who accuse the woman is more than a warning to us about passing judgment on others. It is a profound lesson in divine mercy and forgiveness. As sinners, we are all unworthy to judge the sins of others.

Yet Jesus, the one without sin, offers us who are sinners his mercy and forgiveness. Redeemed by Jesus' compassion, we are sent to sin no more and to live in God's love and peace.
